To Whom It May Concern,

Fransen Pittman has had the pleasure of working with Flawless Steel on the Levitt Pavilion project at Ruby Hill Park in Denver. This was an incredibly high pressure project fraught with enormous schedule challenges from day one and Flawless Steel has proven themselves to be a true asset to delivering the project on time.

At multiple critical junctures of the project, Flawless Steel not only staffed up their field crews, ran seven-day weeks, but even worked through the night to rise to the occasion and meet an incredibly tough deadline.

They are not only willing to step up to the plate and do what it takes to get the job done in the field, but their back-of-house operations helped guide FP and our client's engineers through some challenging design problems and condense the time between finding the design issues and arriving at an approved solution.

With this commitment to shared goals and the required grit to get through tough stretches of work, I can confidently say that Flawless Steel will be a huge asset to any job team that includes them.

Fransen Pittman owes the entire Flawless Steel team a large debt of gratitude and looks forward to partnering with them on future projects.

Respectfully,

John Pittman
President
